Plagiarism and Academic Dishonesty:

Plagiarism includes copying from books or journals, duplicating the work of fellow students, and copying or downloading materials from the internet. We may review this in class early in the semester. If you still feel unsure of what constitutes plagiarism or academic dishonesty, please speak to the instructor about it before the first assignment.

Plagiarism or academic dishonesty of any kind and extent will have results that reach from an F for the assignment to an F for the course or disciplinary action. (Disciplinary action means that the student is referred to the Disciplinary Committee. The penalty decided upon by the Committee may lead to the dismissal of the student from the University.)
